Morgantown—Fred B. Deem has been appointed a member of the University Athletic Board of Control. He succeeds Col. Jackson Arnold, head of the West Virginia state police.

St. Marys—A narrow escape from death through loss of blood was experienced by Warren Glaffield. He cut an artery in his hand with an axe while cutting wood at Calcutta.

Monrsville—A prisoner in the West Virginia penitentiary was released for three hours in order to file a claim for compensation with the United States Veterans' Bureau. The man's name was withheld.

Wheeling—Charles H. Cook, of Bridgeport, Ohio, was almost immediately killed when struck by an automobile said to have been driven by Mrs. William Cornath. He was rushed to a hospital but died enroute.

Wheeling—An unidentified man was found dead along the Ohio river shore by newsboys. The man is believed to have been dead for several days. Empty bottles that had contained denatured alcohol were found near him.

Huntington—Charles Blefne, a contractor, was killed at the mine of the Hartland Collieries Company at Barren Creek while he was running some machinery. His death was due to a fall of slate. The body was taken to Summersville, Nicholas county.

Princeton—Robert Jackson received a patent on a locomotive striker. Other West Virginians to receive patents recently are: Fred Thornton, Huntington, who invented a trolley harp, and William Stoop, of Wheeling, who devised an arch for the fire boxes of boilers.

Clarksburg—Directors of the West Virginia Fox Hunters' Association have selected June Low as the place and October 30, 31, November 1, 2, and 3 as dates for its annual fox hunt. Last year's hunt was held in the same place and June Low people are insistent that it be held there again.

Morgantown—The Monongalia county court has commissioned a Pittsburgh architect to prepare plans for a new jail building to supplant the present structure and construction work will be started as soon as the plans are prepared and the contracts let. It will have quarters for 90 prisoners and a detention room for juvenile offenders.

Logan—Two persons are dead as a result of a gun battle which occurred at Toplin, a small town 10 miles southeast of here, between Elias Thompson, a deputy sheriff, shooting from the street, and Albert Hendrix and wife, shooting from within the Hendrix home. Mrs. Hendrix was instantly killed during the battle and Thompson was fatally wounded, and died the same day.

Monrsville—It was out again, in again for Philip C. Davis who, released from the West Virginia penitentiary here, was arrested on a federal warrant. Davis had spent five long years behind the bars of the penitentiary. He walked out a free man—so he thought. U. S. Deputy John M. Short informed him otherwise. The deputy served the ex-prisoner with a warrant sworn out for his arrest by the United States Commissioner for the Northern District of North Carolina. The warrant was for forgery. Davis is alleged to have raised $2 bills to $20 and passed them.

Clarksburg—The most important development of the annual Harrison county teachers' institute which closed here was the adoption of a resolution by 500 teachers of the county asking for 12 months' pay for twelve months work instead of nine for which they are now employed. The resolution also favors a depletion tax on the various natural resources of West Virginia which will provide abundant revenue to carry on the progressive movement now being initiated by the state department of schools.

ONOTO

We are having the very finest of weather in this section. Plenty of rain, and fine fall pasture. One of the best crops of hay has been harvested that we have had for years. There certainly will be no scarcity of food for stock this winter, and prices should be reasonable.

A. C. Barlow has his crew on Elk finishing up his big job of harvesting.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith and family of Spruce are spending a few days with their respective parents and friends.

Mrs. F. E. Baxter of Cass, is spending her vacation with Mrs. M. J. Baxter, and is taking in the Chautauqua.

E. F. McLaughlin, and H. C. C. Willey, County Agent, are canvassing this community in the interest of the County Farm Bureau.

The writer would like to say a few words right here if the Editor will be kind enough to permit him space.

We realize and know that it is best for small folk to keep near the shore, we also realize that what we say will go in one ear and out of the other, with a certain class of people, but if we do not blow our own horns, it is certain that no one is going to blow them for us.

Our desire is and always has been, to try to promote the things that would be of the best interest, to our people, to our community, and to our State, and nation. Therefore with this thought in view I wish to say a few words in regard to the Agricultural Exhibits.

We understand that we were far excelled along this line at the Lewisburg Fair. That ought not to be, but open confession is good for the soul. We find that we have been spoiled at our previous fairs, from the fact that every exhibitor no matter how small his exhibit was, was given a free ticket or pass. When it became known at this fair that no free tickets would be given, only to stock exhibitors, a great number of our people laid down on the proposition, and said let them have their fair, we will not exhibit anything. This was the wrong spirit, for they did not realize that the premiums were almost doubled, and if they did had to purchase season tickets to win would more than pay all expenses.

For example the writer of this sketch paid $6.75 for season tickets and won $12.00 in premiums. Satisfied? Yes, who would not be?—And got to see all of it too. My aim in writing this sketch is to encourage every one I can to not lay down on the job next year, but if you have anything to exhibit begin your plans right now, and go into the work with vim and energy determined to win, and make next year's fair, one of the best in the State. I realize that I am going to be criticised for my views along this line, by certain people, but I think I am right and right always wins. Anything that promotes thrift, energy and a desire to raise better stock, better poultry, grow better crops, etc., etc., certainly cannot be wrong, and then the premiums that are paid come right into the hands of our farmers, and people of our communities where it will do the most good.

There are things that come to our towns, and communities that are not of any benefit, whatever, and the money that is paid out to them goes away with them, and we are left with only death. Not so with the Agricultural Exhibit but results can be seen.

Get your note book and put me down as a booster please.

Yours very truly,

C. V. Hanlin.
